Interview Your Everyday Hero

Your task is to set up an interview with someone who inspires you. You may conduct your interview in person, on the phone, or even via the web if you have the ability to do so.

YOU MUST WRITE DOWN YOUR QUESTIONS AND INTERVIEW NOTES!

You should ask general questions about the person’s life but also questions that help to demonstrate how that person is heroic/an American voice.

In choosing your everyday hero, you may want to consider the following:
What are her/his accomplishments?
Does the person have a good moral reputation?
What has he/she done to contribute back to society?
Is your role model directed toward helping others?

Good questions to ask during your interview may include:

• What’s the best advice you ever received?
• Who inspires you and why?
• What’s the hardest lesson you ever learned?
• Describe a defining moment in your life.
• What is your biggest accomplishment?
• What’s your personal motto?

After conducting the interview, you will write two well-developed paragraphs. The first should give general, background information about your person. The second will focus on why you deem this person to be of good character, a hero, and/or an American voice.

THIS ASSIGNMENT (two paragraphs AND notes) will be due
